

DISCLAIMER

Shared information is from real people with real conditions who have testified to the observed benefits they experienced from consuming ELO range of products. This information is strictly based on anecdotal observations, not medical evidence, and is not meant to constitute medical data or evidence from scientifically designed randomised controlled trials, and no medical or scientific conclusions are to be drawn from such information.

Information presented are displayed without any representations or warranties, either express or implied. In particular, Multi Water Holdings Ltd. and its related companies do not represent, warrant or claim that the medical conditions described may be treated, cured or prevented by the products and services described herein. Please be advised that all content is intended solely for informative reference and purposes and is not to advertise the use (or lead to the use) of any treatment or the oral consumption of any product. Multi Water Holdings Ltd. and its related companies do not advocate the refusal, postponement, or discontinuation of any medical advice and/or treatments due to information obtained from this document. Any misuse or misunderstanding of such information by readers is not the responsibility of Multi Water Holdings Ltd. and its related companies.